

Radio ownership rules are far too lax. These rules have served to allow some large companies to not only provide bad products, but to do a dis-service to our community. These stations used to be here to serve the public interest. Larger corporations now serve their stockholders' interest.

Thank you for allowing me to submit.